Pridgeon and Clay Opens a Sales and Engineering Office in Germany.

Pridgeon and Clay has opened a sales and engineering office in Alzey, Germany. Helping to aid and develop our business, this new office will provide technical and engineering services directly to our European customer base.

This facility will augment communications with our current customers who have facilities close by, as well as give Pridgeon and Clay the ability to offer services such as:

- Rapid response time / meetings
- Advanced Engineering
- Sales support for generating new customers

With this facility in place, Pridgeon and Clay can look forward to further broadening our relationships with our current customers and help support Pridgeon and Clay as it grows and adds additional manufacturing locations in Europe.
